banks have taken a backseat since the global financial crisis over a decade ago today our new financial masters are asset managers like blackstone and blackrock and they don t just own financial assets the roads we drive on the pipes that supply our drinking water the farmland that provides our food energy systems for electricity and heat hospitals schools and even the homes in which many of us live all now swell asset managers bulging investment portfolios as the owners of more and more of the basic building blocks of everyday life asset managers shape the lives of each and every one of us in profound and disturbing ways in this eye opening follow up to rentier capitalism brett christophers peels back the veil on asset manager society asset managers he shows are unlike traditional owners of housing and other essential infrastructure buying and selling these life supporting assets at a dizzying pace the crux of their business model is not long term investment and careful custodianship but making quick profits for themselves and the investors that back them in asset manager society the natural and built environments that sustain us become one more vehicle for siphoning money from the many to the few knowing the cost of products is important if you don't know how much your item costs whatever it may be you are likely to be overcharged or under protected racial equality is very much like any product generally you get what you pay for assuming you are buying well made products from reputable and professional sources the more you pay the more you get the less you pay the less you get but everyone knows there are often wild exceptions to the general rule of getting what you pay for racial equality is no exception some low cost racial equality programs provide tremendous bang for the buck k 12 school integration affirmative action in higher education funding for anti discrimination enforcement and political equality in voting are just a few examples however by refusing to calculate the costs involved and choosing to pay little or nothing for racial equality the nation is defaulting to the highest cost options this is like trying to save money on transportation by not changing the oil in your car racial equality cost decisions are particularly problematic as the nation moves to being majority minority by mid century not knowing the costs for racial equality threatens american democracy
